

The Iconic French Notepad

Rhodia is known for high quality, exacting standards and timeless design. It is closely associated with creativity and innovation coupled with tradition.

These pads are a favorite of artists & designers, writers, notebook fans and people who appreciate exceptionally smooth paper for notes, sketching and hand drafting. People love them for their grids, quality & iconic covers.

Made in France since 1934.

Origins

Rhodia originated as part of a family business known as Verilhac Brothers, Paper-Maker in 1932. The first Rhodia pad was made in 1934 in Lyon. In Lyon there is the Rhône river. People born in this region are called Rhodaniens. The name came from there. The two spruce trees in the logo represent the two brothers.

The Rhodia Notebook, originally a sideline for Rhodia, was to become its most famous product. It immediately overshadowed other notebooks of the time because of its quality materials and original design of a scored front cover. The orange cover dates back to the 1934. It remains unchanged to this day.

The Paper

All Rhodia products feature Clairefontaine paper. Clairefontaine is a French paper manufacturer that is renowned for its fine quality notebooks. The paper is exceptionally white and ultra smooth. The mill has been making paper since 1858 and notebooks since 1890. Clairefontaine notebooks have been used by generations of writers, university students and travelers.

Collections

Classic Staplebound

The iconic orange and black notepads.

Dot Everything

The original dotGrid.

Wirebound

Tools for efficiency and creativity.

Rhodiarama Colors

Between orange and black there is a Rhodia for you.